

Our Intentions and Commitments in Sakinah Circle

PLEASE READ THIS CAREFULLY!

We believe a strong partnership between home and school is important. We want our children to be guided with a Qur’anic worldview in our Sakinah Circle community. Parents and teachers are the key facilitators in providing such guidance. Both home and school are learning places for our children to develop critical minds, nurture conscious hearts, and become compassionate human beings. We join together in Sakinah Circle to be intentional, responsible, respectful, real, and reflective. We believe these attributes are critical to living and learning with a Qur’anic worldview.

To support the learning journey, an important role of parents and guardians is to provide a wholesome and healthy lifestyle at home. This includes quality family time, good nutrition and hygiene, adequate sleep, monitored limited time on all screen devices, and healthy outdoor activity.

We make intentions and commitments to support our children and each other in Sakinah Circle.

- School attendance is important. Except for illness or emergency, extended absence is discouraged. A student not present on or before the last week of September loses their place in the program.
- Daily assembly begins at 8:25 am. Our earlier start and shortened lunch break provide time for morning assembly, study of Qur’an, and Dhuhur salah.
- Children should know the etiquettes of wudu and salah from home so that they can meaningfully participate in salah.
- We value adab, good manners and proper etiquette. In our mutual interactions, we expect respect.
- Food brought to school should be wholesome and healthy. Processed snacks and drinks are strongly discouraged.
- Clothing needs to be clean, respectful, modest and appropriate for salah (no cartoon images and faces). Personal hygiene requires a regular bath and daily change of clothing.
- We value daily outdoor activities to play and explore nature, during time in school and also at home.
- Please keep personal internet devices at home.
- Being part of the Sakinah community requires being present at Sakinah Circle events and actively participating in school activities. Please be a volunteer in Sakinah Circle (at least twice during the year).

We have read the above statements and intend to fully support our child(ren) in Sakinah Circle.
